

LIAM MCEVOY

I am a second-year Interaction Design student keenly interested in digital illustration and human-computer interaction. I am hoping to expand my skillsets and experience with a view to creating user-friendly, accessible interfaces.

EXPERIENCE

McDonalds

I currently work in Mc Donald's in Belfast as 'Crew Trainer', training crew members and making new-starts feel welcomed. Working there involves working in a team, serving customers, and has helped improve my interpersonal communication and interaction skills.

Daniel Footwear

I have also worked in Daniel Footwear, Banbridge, a high-end fashion retailer. This experience, speaking and listening with staff and customers, has been invaluable for developing communication skills and building confidence in working easily with others.

PERSONAL STATEMENT

I am currently studying BDes Hons Interaction Design at the Belfast School of Art. This course involves creating websites, apps and looking into how the design and technology is changing the world.

I use HTML, CSS, Sketch & InVision to create apps, interface elements and icon sets. I studied and researched branding, – leading to the creation of my own personal brand and website.

I completed a Foundation Degree in Art & Design in 2016 which helped me to determine the area of design I wanted to work in – Interaction Design.

QUALIFICATIONS

BDes Interaction Design

Predicted Degree Classification - 2:1

Foundation Degree in Art & Design

Foundation Classification - Commendation

CONTACT

Mobile : 07720608540

Email: liam.mcevoy@mail.com

REFERENCES

Stewart McFarland

46 Northwood Parade,
BT153Q,

T: 07919496111

E: stewartmcfarland@gmail.com

Paul McCormack

Interaction Design Course Director
Belfast School of Art

25-51 York St. Belfast BT151ED

E: p.mccormack@ulster.ac.uk
